About Our Limited Editions

Many of our items are limited editions. This means that the quantity of each piece is restricted to a specific number of units, or limited to a single production run. Once the edition quantity has been sold through, the item is listed as 'retired' or 'sold out.' Because many of our collectibles are low quantity editions available to a worldwide audience, they tend to sell-out quickly. Therefore we offer our customers a 'Pre-order Option' which holds an item in their name until it arrives at our warehouse. Sideshow's policy is that the customer is never billed for an item until it is shipped.

“ Sideshow RULES! I LOVE their stuff!

In an industry largely defined by indifferently sculpted plastic crapola, Sideshow is the gold-standard of quality, craftsmanship, and the sheer love of doing it the best way possible. The bookshelves of my home office where I do my writing are lined with the results of their loving labors - James Bond, Young Frankenstein, Twilight Zone, Outer Limits, the stable of Universal monsters. Thanks to the artisans at Sideshow, my childhood friends (as 12" figures) stare at me as I work, providing endless hours of pleasure and inspiration. Thank you, Sideshow! Keep 'em coming! ”

In 1931 Boris Karloff portrayed the lumbering, misunderstood monster in the Universal Studios film "Frankenstein." In his non-speaking role, Karloff ended up stealing the picture from its leading man and becoming a star in his own right. The Monster, later to be synonymous with the film's title, "Frankenstein," would launch a string of memorable monsters for the studio throughout the first half of the century. This 1/4 scale figure's detailed face captures the essence of Karloff's likeness in his star making role. The figure's soft body houses a poseable wire armature that allows for basic re-positioning of the pose to your desired taste. A wooden floor board textured stand is also included for sturdy support of the figure when on display.

VAN HELSING

Deep in the mountains of Carpathia lies the mysterious and mythic land of Transylvania- a world where evil is ever-present, where danger rises as the sun sets, and where the monsters that inhabit man's deepest nightmares take form. Filmmaker Stephen Sommers (The Mummy; The Mummy Returns) brings Van Helsing (Hugh Jackman), the legendary monster hunter born in the pages of Bram Stoker's Dracula to film. In his ongoing battle to rid the world of its fiendish creatures, Van Helsing, on order of a secret society, travels to Transylvania to bring down the lethally seductive, enigmatically powerful Count Dracula (Richard Roxburgh) and joins forces with the fearless Anna Valerious (Kate Beckinsale), out to rid her family of a generations-old curse by defeating the vampire.

This 18" Van Helsing figure features film-accurate costuming, a highly detailed Hugh Jackman likeness and poseable arms.

EMPEROR NAPOLEON BONAPARTE

1/4 Scale Figure

At certain times and in certain places, it is possible for individuals of genius to change not only the course of their own lives, but to reshape nations and to affect the lives of millions. There is no more striking example of this than Napoleon Bonaparte, a man who went from being a minor aristocrat and artillery officer in the French Army to being crowned Emperor of France in a little over a decade. During the time he held sway on the continent, Napoleon was able to topple governments and change European society from the Iberian Peninsula to the plains of Eastern Europe. This was possible, in part, because of his amazing abilities as an administrator and politician, but even more so it was due to his tactical skill, good fortune, and determination in battle. Quite simply, Napoleon was one of the greatest examples of military genius Europe ever saw.

For over twenty years, from 1793 to 1815, Bonaparte led French troops in almost continual campaigning. His armies faced a wide range of enemies who were determined to destroy the upstart nation that had dared to overthrow its old monarchy. With a foundation of solid training as a professional soldier, and instincts and insights that more often than not enabled him to surprise and outmaneuver his opponents, Napoleon repeatedly defeated the armies of Russia, Prussia, Austria, various Italian states, and even the Mamelukes of Egypt. In the opinion of one of his most successful opponents, the Duke of Wellington, the presence of Napoleon on a battlefield was worth 40,000 men. The Emperor's soldiers were fiercely loyal to him, firmly believing in his genius and luck, and willing to fight to the death for Napoleon and for France.

Mike Mignola

MIGNOLA

Mike Mignola, the creator of Hellboy™, is among the most highly regarded writers and artists of horror comics today. His characters can be as humorous as they are frightening, and his bold approach to chiaroscuro rendering is perfectly suited to the dark and haunted settings in which his characters reside.

Despite the popularity Mignola enjoyed as a freelance artist, he had long entertained the idea of creating his own comic book inspired by folklore, Victorian ghost stories, and the pulp magazines of the 1920's and 30's. Soon the idea for Hellboy was born, and Mignola's new career as the owner of his own comic's series began.

Published by Dark Horse Comics, Hellboy™ is published in over a half dozen languages, throughout the world, and has earned numerous industry awards. Mignola is the visual consultant for Guillermo del Toro's film version of Hellboy, having previously worked with the director on Blade 2. He also worked with Frances Ford Coppola on Bram Stoker's Dracula and as a production designer on Disney's Atlantis: The Lost Empire. He currently lives in New York City with his wife and daughter.

Spectral Motion

To assure that the Hellboy line of products was authentic and true to the film, Sideshow collaborated with Spectral Motion, one of the effects companies that created the creature and make-up effects for the Hellboy film. Glendale, California-based Spectral Motion specializes in the design and creation of astonishing film and television creature effects, animatronics and special make-up effects. The talented effects artists and technicians of Spectral Motion have worked on several films, including Hellboy, Star Trek Nemesis, Blade 2, Men In Black 2, and A.I. (Artificial Intelligence).

Spectral Motion and Sideshow Collectibles are proud to offer Hellboy fans polystone busts, statues, and maquettes crafted by the same artists that were intimately involved in the design process for the film versions of the Hellboy characters. The range includes oversized busts of Abe Sapien, Sammael, and Hellboy with the talking corpse draped over his shoulder. The line also includes a 1/3 scale maquette of Abe Sapien (almost 2 feet tall!), a design maquette of the young Hellboy (Hellbaby) - based on an early version of the character design and done in a faux-bronze style, and a 1/6 scale Sammael maquette sized perfectly for display with the 12" Hellboy figures. Any of these high-quality heavy-weight polystone collectibles will be sure to become the premiere piece of any Hellboy collection. ABOUT THE ARTIST

Michel Gagné was born in Quebec, Canada, in 1965. He studied animation at Sheridan College School of Visual Arts in Ontario, Canada.

In 1985, he began a highly successful career drawing characters and special effects for animated and live-action feature films. Gagné's work has appeared in films such as The Iron Giant, Osmosis Jones, Space Jam, All Dogs Go To Heaven, An American Tail, and numerous others. Michel was honored by the International Animated Film Society, ASIFA-Hollywood, with four Annie Award nominations.

The creator made the jump to print in 1998 with the critically acclaimed A Search for Meaning: The Story of Rex and the Gagné library has expanded to include The Mystery of He, The Great Shadow Migration, The Bird, the Spider and the Octopus, Frenzied Fauna, Zed: Volume One, The Towers of Numar, and the highly popular Insanely Twisted Rabbits. He was recently given carte blanche to write and illustrate a 40-page Batman story for DC Comics. The bizarre and highly controversial story was serialized in Detective Comics, resulting in a wild and varied response from the readership.

In addition to his film and publishing work, Michel has experimented in a variety of media including sculptures, paintings and mixed medias. His work continues to be exhibited in galleries.

"The pixies are always full of mischievous energy while I'm sculpting them. They leap about on my work table, hiding my tools and pushing over paint pots. They never seem to want to hold the pose I've sculpted them in. In the end I usually have to go along with their wishes and let them be whatever they want to be. Luckily they're happy creatures and although they may cause a bit of mischief in your life as well, they'll always do it with a sense of fun."

Barad-dûr Lithograph & Film Strip Collectible

- 500 pc. World Wide Limited Edition!
(Plus 100 Artist Proofs)
- Signed by Director Peter Jackson!
- Signed by Academy Award Winner® Richard Taylor!
- Signed and Numbered by Artist John Howe!
- Actual strip of The Lord of the Rings: The Two Towers film!
- Illuminated Filmstrip
- Engraved decorative title plate!
- Museum quality antiqued frame with linen matte!

John Howe has been re-creating Tolkien's mythical world of Middle-earth since he was a young man, fresh out of college. In fact, "The Lieutenant of the Black Tower of Barad-dûr" was one of his earliest published works. In John Howe's own words, "Barad-dûr's very foundations are anchored in the folly of Sauron; his wrath, embodied in battlement piled on battlement, his power, the mortar that holds stone to stone to impossible heights."

The original watercolor has been masterfully reproduced as a fine art giclée, printed on archival paper. It includes the original signatures of the director Peter Jackson, two-time Academy Award winner, Richard Taylor and John Howe, celebrated conceptual designer / illustrator of Tolkien's world.

This intensely beautiful work of art is made even more valuable by the film frame collectible displayed along with it. Director Peter Jackson has donated film stock from his personal collection. A special lighting mechanism is included which allows the filmstrip to be illuminated at the touch of a button.

The unique limited edition, hand signed giclée and The Lord of the Rings: The Two Towers film strip are displayed within a finely woven acid-free linen matte and finished with a museum quality carved frame. There is also a specially engraved brass plaque identifying the origin of the piece. The finished piece measures an impressive 29" W x 29" H.

"Sideshow elected to offer this particular piece based on the powerful and pivotal scene it depicted and on our admiration for the work of John Howe," said Greg Anzalone, president of Sideshow Collectibles. "We're pleased to be following up the highly successful 'Rivendell' piece with another masterful work of art that is sure to please Tolkien fans worldwide."

Sideshow will release only 500 pieces of this fine art collectible beginning in January 2004. Each numbered piece is accompanied by a signed Certificate of Authenticity and will have a suggested retail price of $500.

THE LORD OF THE RINGS

Rivendell Lithograph & Film Strip Collectible

- 1,000 pc. World Wide Limited Edition!
(Plus 100 Artist Proofs)
- Signed by Director Peter Jackson!
- Signed by Academy Award Winner® Richard Taylor!
- Signed and Numbered by Artist Alan Lee!
- Actual strip of The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring Film!
- Lighting mechanism to highlight your film piece!
- Engraved decorative title plate!
- Museum quality antiqued frame with linen matte!

Alan Lee is one of the world's greatest Tolkien illustrators. Steeped in the myth and magical folklore of his native England, he was renowned as a master watercolorist long before Tolkien's publishers approached him to illustrate The Lord of the Rings in 1988. Since then Lee has created dozens of unforgettable paintings which luminous clarity is perfectly matched to Tolkien's words. These illustrations have become, for many fans, quintessential images of Middle-earth.

When Peter Jackson began work on The Lord of the Rings film trilogy, he approached Alan Lee to create much of the conceptual art for it. Lee's creative leadership made a cinematic vision of Middle-earth that was full of wonder, and yet, to the fans of the written word, so intensely familiar that it felt like a homecoming.

Through a unique arrangement with Peter Jackson, it is now possible to own a piece of cinematic history. Sideshow / Weta Collectibles is proud to offer a Limited Edition Rivendell Lithograph & Film Strip Collectible. This piece features the actual conceptual art of Rivendell created by Alan Lee. The original watercolor has been lovingly reproduced as an offset lithograph, printed on archival paper, and includes the original signatures of the three creative forces behind the making of The Lord of the Rings film trilogy: director Peter Jackson, two-time Academy Award® winner Richard Taylor, and illustrator Alan Lee.

Included in this Fine Art Collectible is a piece of the actual film strip of The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring. The strip was cut from a reel donated by Peter Jackson from his personal collection. These film strips are not a reproduction. Each is an actual, unique, and individual Cinema Scope negative print taken from a single film reel that features Rivendell scenes. A special lighting mechanism is included which allows the film strip to be illuminated at the touch of a button. There is also a specially engraved brass plaque identifying the origin of the piece.

This unique Limited Edition, hand signed lithograph and The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring film strip are displayed with a finely woven linen matte and finished with a museum quality antiqued frame. The finished piece measures an impressive 29" W x 29" H and will make a handsome addition to anyone's art collection. No serious collector will want to miss out on this truly unique offer!

TERMINATOR 3 RISE OF THE MACHINES™

A decade has passed since John Connor (NICK STAHL) helped prevent Judgment Day and save mankind from mass destruction. Now Connor lives "off the grid" - no home, no credit cards, no cell phone. No record of his existence. No way he can be traced by Skynet - the highly developed network of machines that once tried to kill him and wage war on humanity. Until...

... out of the shadows of the future steps the T-X™, a Terminatrix™ (KRISTANNA LOKEN), Skynet's most sophisticated cyborg killing machine.

Now Connor's only hope for survival is the Terminator® (ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER). Together, they must triumph over the technologically superior T-X™ and forestall the looming threat of Judgment Day... or face the apocalypse and the fall of civilization.
